New York, NY – March 12, 2025 – Paul Gauguin Cruises, French Polynesia’s destination expert and winner of Condé Nast Traveler's Readers' Choice Awards 2024 Best Small Cruise, has introduced an enticing "Kids Sail & Fly Free" offer, making it easier than ever for families to discover the enchanting Islands of Tahiti together. This limited-time offer includes complimentary* roundtrip airfare between Los Angeles or Seattle and Papeete on Air Tahiti Nui for children ages 15 and under on select 2025 summer and holiday voyages.

The “Kids Sail & Fly Free” 2025 voyages feature the line's popular Moana Explorer Program, an educational and immersive experience designed specifically for children ages six to 15. This complimentary program is offered in partnership with Te mana o te moana, the South Pacific's premier marine education and conservation foundation.

"As families begin planning their summer vacations, our 'Kids Sail & Fly Free' offer—along with the ship's new connecting staterooms—creates an unparalleled opportunity to explore the breathtaking beauty and warm culture of French Polynesia at exceptional value," said Susan Robison, Vice President of Marketing and Communications, Americas, for Paul Gauguin Cruises. "Each featured 7- or 14-night voyage aligns with our Moana Explorer Program, transforming the journey into an unforgettable family adventure where children don't just visit these remarkable islands – they connect with the environment, wildlife, and traditions through hands-on activities and discovery."

Each day of the voyage offers young explorers a blend of naturalist-led island excursions, scientific activities, crafts, games, and adventures. Children learn about Polynesian culture through interactive board games, create natural jewelry, conduct water experiments, participate in treasure hunts, enjoy pool activities, observe stars in the pristine sea night sky, or design their own Polynesian tattoo.

"We believe that the journey to The Islands of Tahiti should be as enriching as the destination itself," said Caroline Borawski, Vice President of The Americas at Air Tahiti Nui. "Tahiti offers an unparalleled setting for families to connect, explore, and create lifelong memories together. Through immersive programs like the Moana Explorer Program, young travelers can dive deeper into Polynesian culture, marine conservation, and hands-on discovery, making Tahiti a truly unforgettable experience for all ages."

Adding to the appeal for multi-generational travel, The Gauguin will now feature several connecting staterooms following its extensive seven-week, multi-million-dollar refurbishment, currently underway in Singapore. Combined with the "Kids Sail & Fly Free" offer, families have an unprecedented opportunity to experience luxury cruising in one of the world's most breathtaking destinations.
